Notice of Privacy Practices

As required by the privacy regulations created as a result of the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act of 1996 (HIPAA).

This notice describes how health information about you (as a client of this practice) may be used and disclosed and how you can get access to your individually identifiable health information.

Please review this notice carefully.

15A. Commitment to your privacy:

This practice is dedicated to maintaining the privacy of your individually identifiable health information (also called protected health information, or PHI). In conducting our business, I will create records regarding you and the treatment and services I provide to you. I am required by law to maintain the confidentiality of health information that identifies you. I also am required by law to provide you with this notice of the legal duties and the privacy practices that I maintain in my practice concerning your PHI. By federal and state law, I must follow the terms of the Notice of Privacy Practices that I have in effect at the time.

I realize that these laws are complicated, but I must provide you with the following important information:

- How I may use and disclose your PHI,
- Your privacy rights in your PHI,
- My obligations concerning the use and disclosure of your PHI.

The terms of this notice apply to all records containing your PHI that are created or retained by my practice. I reserve the right to revise or amend this Notice of Privacy Practices. Any revision or amendment to this notice will be effective for all of your records that my practice has created or maintained in the past, and for any of your records that I may create or maintain in the future. Before making significant changes to the privacy practices, this Notice will be changed, and you may request a copy of our most current Notice at any time.

C. I may use and disclose your PHI in the following ways:

The following categories describe the different ways in which I may use and disclose your PHI.

1. Payment. I may use your PHI in order to bill you directly for services. Also my practice may use and disclose your PHI in order to bill, and collect payment for the services you receive from us and/or submit on your behalf. While it is your responsibility to correspond with your insurance company regarding coverage, your health insurer may contact me, and I may provide your insurer with details regarding your treatment to determine if your insurer will cover, or pay for, your treatment.

2. Reports. Your insurance carrier may request additional information such as a treatment plan or summary, and in rare cases, a copy of the entire record. This information will become part of the insurance company file and likely will become computerized. In some cases, they may share the information with a national medical information bank. You may request, in writing, a copy of any reports that I may submit.

3. Both laws and standards of my profession require that appropriate treatment records be kept. You can request, in writing, a copy of the records, or an appropriate summary (depending on the wellbeing of the client) will be prepared. Allow 30 days for this.

154. Disclosures required by law. My practice will use and disclose your PHI when I am required to do so by federal, state or local law.

a. Public health risks. My practice may disclose your PHI to public health authorities that are authorized by law to collect information for the purpose of:

- Reporting child abuse or neglect,
- 20 • Preventing or controlling disease, injury or disability,
- Notifying a person regarding potential exposure to a communicable disease,
- Notifying a person regarding a potential risk for spreading or contracting a disease or condition,
- Notifying appropriate government agency(ies) and authority(ies) regarding the potential 25abuse or neglect of an elderly person.

b. Serious threats to health or safety. My practice may use and disclose your PHI when necessary to reduce or prevent a serious threat to your health and safety or the health and safety of another individual or the public. Under these circumstances, I will only make disclosures to a person or organization able to help prevent the threat.

305. Supervision. The state of Indiana requires a therapist to be supervised by an approved supervisor for a period of time prior to licensure. Your PHI may be disclosed, within a counseling office, for supervision purposes. Each staff professional is required by law to protect confidentiality.

6. Your Authorization. In addition to my use of your PHI for treatment and payment, you may 35give me a written authorization to share your PHI with other healthcare professionals and/or agencies to facilitate consistent quality treatment.

7. Health Care Operations. My practice may disclose your health information within my office to operate our business.
